Forest Avenue Family Shelter Impacts the Community

During a very cold winter in 1987, a homeless person froze to death on Troost in Kansas City, Missouri. It was then that God laid on Pastor Ken Smith's heart the need to start Forest Avenue Family Shelter. With 50 cots and 50 blankets, Pastor Ken opened the south half of the Forest Avenue Baptist Church building to the homeless. Over time, Forest Avenue Family Shelter had to narrow its focus. Today FAFS is a true emergency shelter for women and women with children averaging 32 homeless guests per night. FAFS is one of only two true emergency shelters in the KC metropolitan area. If space is available, FAFS can provide a bed for a homeless individual the same day that they request it, or in some cases, the next day. Pastor Ken likes to say that at FAFS they still take people off the streets.

Last year, the shelter experienced a 30% rise in the number of homeless women and children. This has always included single women, single women with children, battered women, and sex trafficking victims.

Their primary goal is to present the gospel to each and every person that comes through the shelter. Roughly 95% of the ladies that stay in the shelter are unbelievers and many of them stay only a few nights. Each guest receives a nutritious meal following a gospel testimony every evening. Because of their ministry in the community, many people have been saved and many more are involved in their Deeper Life Discipleship Program. There are a number of BR-KC churches that take groups to the shelter regularly to help provide meals and serve. FAFS not only provides food and a place to sleep, but all guests, regardless of the length of their stay, are assigned a case manager who works with them to set simple, realistic goals and to work on self-motivation.

The shelter has always been staffed by volunteers and remains located in the midst of a poverty-stricken community. FAFS does not receive any city, state, or federal funds. It has always been and continues to be funded by the Lord through donations - monetary, goods, services, and prayer. Most Recently I asked you to join me in praying for an unbelieving student who has been in our community for a couple of years. This student's involvement with our church has gone from initially attending only social functions, to then checking out our Story of God gatherings, to now regularly attending our Sunday Worship Gatherings.

Travis Hamm, UMKC & Rockhurst

A few Sundays ago I preached on Communion from 1 Corinthians 11. Afterward, I led our group in observing the Lord's Supper, but not until offering the chance to verbalize our need for Christ's sacrifice on the cross. It was at this point that the student shared honestly with our group that, in addition to checking out Christianity, she has also been exploring Wicca, and that she doesn't know what to believe. As she shared with our group, you could see the sadness and despair in her eyes. It was a true picture of someone who is "lost". I thanked her for sharing, and we spent the next few minutes praying for God to reveal the truth about His Son to her.

Shortly afterward, I sensed the Spirit leading me to talk further about where she is in this spiritual journey. I asked her to explain what she understood it meant for someone to become a Christian. Her answer involved moralistic living, and there was no mention of Jesus. Knowing her background in science, I shared with her that the good works of a Christian are the "effects" of a changed heart, but the good news of Jesus is very much the "cause" of those effects. She asked if Christians believe that Jesus is the only "cause". I said, "absolutely!" and explained to her that Jesus Himself said that He is the only way, truth, and life. Friends, I know that this student has heard the gospel proclaimed to her many times, and our conversation highlighted the fact that she is spiritually blind. I ended our conversation asking if she has ever, in her journey of exploration, prayed for God to reveal to His truth to her about Himself. She admitted that she hadn't prayed to months, they operate with just enough money to pay utilities. Because of the age of their building, repairs and upgrades are needed frequently. Over the past few years, they have had to replace air conditioners, hot water heaters, boilers and more. Each time the shelter closes for repairs, those in need are turned away. Additionally, financial contributions over the past few years have been cut in half even though the needs have grown.

There are many ways to get involved. If you or your church would like to help Forest Avenue Family Shelter, visit www.forestavenuefamilyshelter.org for more information.
