OUR GOAL

Fort Sherman Academy and Spurgeon College team up each spring to provide student training in Personal Security, problem avoidance and Captivity Survival. This is an immersion course that is very labor intensive and depends upon community and church volunteers to provide the environment for learning.

OUR MISSION

To provide realistic scenarios so students may utilize skills for survival and sharing the Gospel under difficult circumstances. Students learn through role play with opposing forces, both unfriendly government and criminal/terrorist.

Volunteer information

Providing personal security training for missions program students.

Your part

Every year, we team up with Spurgeon College's FUSION staff to encourage volunteer service by local Kansas City, Mo area folks to help facilitate training for Fusion "Cadets".

WE NEED YOU!!!

We have an established orientation program that will help you understand the tasks that we need your help with.

We make sure you have the knowledge to provide a solid learning opportunity for these students who are answering the call to missions service. They are being equipped to travel to several difficult places to serve with career missionaries for the summer. Many go on to serve a career in missions. You can help!
